The Department of Historical and Geographical Sciences and the Ancient World (DiSSGeA), following the resolution of the Department Council of 22 February 2023, announces a selection for the assignment of scholarships aimed at promoting the outgoing mobility of DiSSGeA master's degree students. The €40,000 total is to be charged to the BIFED budget.

The scholarships will be of four types:

The maximum amount foreseen for each scholarship is €400, and it will be paid at the end of the activity following the submission of the original expense supporting documents.
- B. For attending Summer and Winter Schools to be held from 1 January 2023 to 30 November 2023. The maximum amount foreseen for each scholarship is €400, and it will be paid at the end of the activity following the submission of the original expense supporting documents.
- C. For internships and traineeships outside the University and in locations more than 100 km away from the place of residence and/or domicile to be held from 1 January 2023 to 30 November 2023. The maximum amount foreseen for each scholarship is €400, and it will be paid at the end of the activity following the submission of the original expense supporting documents.
- D. Integration of Erasmus scholarships, only for Erasmus+ for Study 2023/24 call grantees, who accept the position. The maximum amount foreseen is €1,000 per person - for stays of 4/6 months - or €1,500 - for stays of 9/12 months -, and it will be paid at the end of the Erasmus stay following the submission of the original expense supporting documents.

It will be possible to submit only one scholarship request. Type B and C scholarships cannot be combined with other scholarships intended for similar initiatives provided by the University of Padua.

Article 2 - Admission requirements

The call is open to master's degree students of the University of Padua, of the courses in: Classical Humanities and Ancient History, Local Development, Sciences of Religions, Sciences for the Landscape, Historical Sciences (curriculum Historical Sciences and curriculum Mobility Studies), and Techniques, patrimoine, territoires de l'industrie (excluded Erasmus Mundus grantees), of the Department of Historical and Geographical Sciences and the Ancient World (DiSSGeA).

Two application forms are attached to this call, to be used respectively for:

1. scholarship request for the realisation of master's degree thesis, for participating in scientific conferences and congresses relating to the research themes of the master's degree thesis, for attending Summer and Winter Schools, for internships and traineeships (Form I);

Article 5 - Winners obligations
